INTEREST SUPPLEMENTS AVAILABLE FOR LOW INCOME FAMILIES

Daniel E. McAllister, Assistant County Supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration has announced that interest supplements are now available for low income families to purchase, repair or construct homes in Oxford County. This new supplement can reduce the interest rate for these people to as low as 1% and is dependent upon the number of children at home under 21 years of age and the annual fixed income.

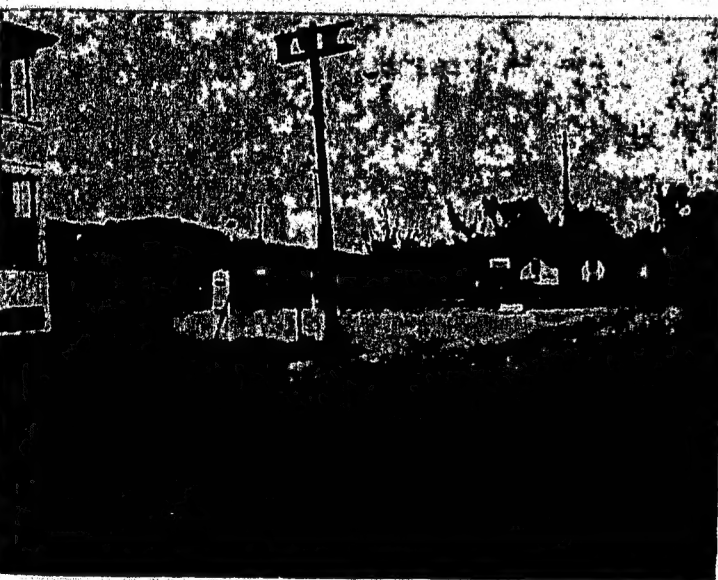

Anyone interested in this loan program should contact Mr. McAllister or Mr. Morrow at the local Farmers Home Administration office, located in the Masonic Building, East Main St., South Paris.

WEIGHT CONTROL CLASSES TO MEET TUESDAY AFTERNOONS

COMMENT

CONFUSING - 'TIL STOLEN

For about 34 hours spanning last week end the above stop sign at the junction of Main and Railroad Streets in Bethel village caused some confusion to local motorists. Located on what most motorists assumed was the "wrong" side of the road, many failed to notice the new sign. Most motorists are used to regulatory signs on the right-hand side of the highway or on center "islands" where feasible. The sign was erected by a State crew on Friday morning and was stolen between 9 and 10 o'clock Monday evening. Reportedly it is not known who caused its removal but it appears to be the work of those whose outlook has been one of perpetual sophomoric childishness. Signs controlling traffic, even when of unquestioned necessity, result in inconvenience to some of the travelling public, especially those who have travelled the same route for many years. With that in mind it would seem that State and/or local authorities should make every effort to assure that signs are located so that their purpose is unmistakably evident.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Work has been completed on this year's T. R. I. Road. Tar will be applied next year to the part done in 1967 as well as this year's section.

There have been several questions us here in the office if we requested a stop sign at the junction of Main and Railroad Streets. The erection of the sign was as much of a surprise to us as to the local police. A call was made to Augusta asking for a review of the situation which we were assured would be done. The sign has disappeared in the meantime. We have been expecting a representative of the Traffic and Planning Division to visit us this week to try and improve the intersection without adding to the confusion that already exists.

NEW SPEED MEASURING DEVICE TO BE USED ON MAINE ROADS

A public information period to acquaint Maine drivers with a new speed measuring device to be used by the Maine State Police will begin Monday, Col. Parker F. Hennessey has announced.

The device will be used during the entire month of October to detect violators of Maine's speed statutes. Drivers so detected will be issued courtesy warning cards explaining the device, Hennessey said.

Called VASCAR, the device is a visual average speed computer and recorder currently being used for enforcement purposes in 18 other states. Its operation is based on the formula—speed equals distance divided by time. And it is capable of clocking the average speed of vehicles traveling in virtually any direction.

Thirty-five units have been purchased initially by the Maine State Police and installed in all seven troops of the department. Acquisition of more of the devices is planned in the future. More than 50 state police officers have been trained and have qualified as certified operators of the device, Hennessey said, and more are to be trained.

"We want to afford the public every opportunity to become acquainted with VASCAR and its capabilities before using it to issue a single summons," he noted.

"The object of its use will be voluntary compliance with our speed statutes for the safety of all persons using Maine highways," he added.

New books received:

Adults:

"The Hurricane Years" by Cameron Hawley. A welcome return to the bedrock relationships of real people facing real problems in a real world. As such, it is Cameron Hawley's best and most significant book.

"The Salzburg Connection" by Helen MacInnes. As always, the factual basis of this novel is firmly set in historical evidence; as always, the theme is meaningful and real; and, as always, the narrative is irresistible. Here, then, is a whirlwind adventure for the hundreds of thousands who eagerly await Helen MacInnes' new novel.

"Sam Houston" by Noel Gerson. In Sam Houston, Noel Gerson has fashioned a powerful adventure story from the career of the famous Texan whose feats were often as gigantic as the state he wrenched away from Mexico. Sam Houston is a vivid portrait of a great American whose life was indeed, as John F. Kennedy observed, a "profile in courage."

"I Wish I'd Said That" by Art Linkletter. Art Linkletter tells his favorite ad-libs of all time.

"Of Diamonds and Diplomacy" by Lillian Baldridge. An autobiography of a happy life as social secretary for Ambassador and Mrs. David Bruce, for Ambassador Clare Booth Luce, and for Jacqueline Kennedy. This is a book which is great fun to read and one which will stimulate any young person who wants a successful career.

"The Wind Blows Free" by Vian Smith. With an English setting, a beautifully written recreation of a place, a way of life, of men and women who were vulnerable yet staunch. The Wind Blows Free brings a rare and pertinent affirmation of the human spirit's enduring need of freedom and self-respect.

SUNDAY RIVER

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres. —

Here is the name of Dr. and Mrs. Loy S. Harrell's son, Loy S. Harrell the III. Mother and son came home Friday evening. He was a very good boy as he slept all night and didn't get Daddy or mother up until he was hungry, most next morning.

Mrs. Richard Thomas of Carbondale, Ill., is with her daughter, Mrs. Harrell for a few days.

Robert Serafin had the good luck to drive a point and strike water not far from his house. He hopes to pipe it into the house before cold weather as they would like to stay here all winter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fleet were in Norway Thursday, shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Onofrio called at R. M. Fleet's Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Verrill of Concord, Mass., are at their cottage for a few days. They also brought the squirrels some acorns.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Quinlan of New York City, are at her old home, the Foster place, for a vacation.

We hope all the pupils will be at our October Sunday School as there is likely to be a surprise waiting for them, Oct. 20.

Our weather was such that our large flock of robins took off for warmer places as we had a thunder shower Thursday evening, followed by a cooler spell with more showers and finally on Saturday snow squalls on the mountains that lasted Sunday with ice and frost on the valley.

The mountain caps are real white for our first storm. That is what happens when this correspondent goes shopping. Last year was a larger storm.

SAFETY CHAIRMAN PRAISES

ROAD DEATH REDUCTION

Chairman of the Maine Highway Safety Committee, Jack S.

Atwood, has stated that "Maine's effort in reducing traffic deaths and accidents this year has been remarkable. At the end of six months, the State was tied for second place in percentage reduction of highway deaths, minus sixteen percent. Preliminary figures for the months of July,

August and September show that we are still one of the leaders in the nation and I believe when the final figures are in for the country, we shall be close to, leading the entire nation. Considering the great increase in tourist travel, this is even more remarkable.

Chairman Atwood advised

"these results are due to the wonderful efforts of many organizations and State Departments. Governor Curtis spearheaded the attack over a year ago when he called on everyone to 'step up' their efforts. The Highway Commission and its chairman have done exceptional work on correcting and rebuilding high accident locations. The State Police Chief has added more patrols to our highways and initiated new methods of cutting down the speeders and violators.

The Secretary of State, through an intensive campaign of driver improvement, has contributed to the results. The Maine Highway

Safety Committee's Educational Programs, particularly with the defensive driving courses, have played their part. The Department of Education's increase in the number of students taking driver training courses has certainly been a factor."

He also emphasized that "much credit should go to the Maine motorists and many organizations who have pledged support; also, praise should go to the many men and women who must drive to and from work daily. Mr. Atwood states that spreading this sort of news in the various newspapers throughout Maine has certainly helped in the highway safety effort.

WHY ENROLL?

If you are registered to vote but not enrolled in either political Party, perhaps you have been misinformed about the true facts.

Enrolling in a political Party still allows you to vote as you please in the General Elections.

Regardless of your employment—even by the government—you can enroll in the Party of your choice.

Now, let's look at the advantages of being enrolled:

1. Only enrolled voters have a say in the selection of candidates in the Primary Election. Many times, in a predominantly one-party community or county, the Primary winner in that Party is the automatic winner in the General Election.

2. The unenrolled voters, instead of being "independent," are in fact the most dependent of all because they depend on the enrolled voters to do all the nominating of candidates for them.

3. Enrolled voters receive more information about the candidates and the elections. They are therefore better informed and can exercise their franchise more intelligently at the polls.

4. Enrolled voters are more likely to have the opportunity to contribute to a party. Unlike Soviet Russia where the Government finances elections, such as they are, we Americans have the privilege of sharing the costs of electing our office holders.

5. Enrolled voters may attend Party Caucuses and Conventions, day School convenes at the same hour for regular and visiting pupils.

Among related passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by the denomination's Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, is the following: "Be watchful, sober, and vigilant. The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter—certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

"One Element of Christian Healing" is the title of the next program in the Bible Speaks to You series.

IN AND ABOUT BETHEL BRYANT POND

Mrs. John Currier called at the home of Mrs. Marie Gunther one day this week.

Scott Stebbins was among the lucky ones attending the Waterford Fair this year when he caught a greased pig at the "Pig Scramble".

Mrs. Donald Fifield was a dinner guest of Mrs. John Frankiewicz, Paradise Road, on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Fifield lived in Bethel three years ago. Donald has been made manager of the Earth Station at Andover. They will be moving to Andover in two weeks.

At the request of residents in the respective areas, two streets have been named by the Bethel Board of Selectmen. The street leading west off Bridge Street, has been designated as Riverside Lane; and the connecting road between the Middle Intervale Road and Route 26 (old Route 26), will be known as Sunset Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Messinger of Santa Clara, Calif., have been guests of Mrs. Messinger's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Evans Wilson of Pownal. Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Messinger and Rev. and Mrs. Wilson visited Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lapham and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gibbs. Miss Minnie Wilson was also a guest at the Laphams.

The season started late but impressively for Gould Academy prep footballers who dished out a 52-0 defeat to the Kent's Hill "B" team in Wednesday rivalry at Bethel.

At this point Gould has only two other bookings, the 19th at MCI and Oct. 26 at home with Hyde School of Bath.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
October 8, 1968

Dear Editor,

One of the pleasures of living in the country is the keeping of animals. The care of them can foster a sense of responsibility in their young owners. Just as parents take pleasure in watching the development of their children, children enjoy watching young animals grow and respond as they are fed, cared for, and cherished.

I'm certain that many people have been past the irrigation pond on East Bethel Road where five fat ducks thrived between a weedy flourishing garden and potato and corn fields. These ducks had been watched by their owner since they were in eggs on the other side of the river. They arrived as ducklings who seemed to grow two inches a day. They were kept in a wire enclosure, still standing in the pond, to protect them from muskrats when they were young. When they were big enough to protect themselves from nature's natural varmints, they had the run of the pond. Quacking loudly, they greeted each person in the area as a potential provider of corn or breadstuffs. Occasionally a wild duck would join them, smaller and riding high on the water, and able to fly away. These ducks had tame parents and had never learned to fly.

We arrived home on Saturday and went to feed the ducks. No conversational quacking greeted us—only two bewildered ducks with no appetite for corn and a new wariness for two-legged animals. Missing were two fat

IS CHURCH RENEWAL NEEDED?

CATE will teach you how to use your beliefs to make the church meaningful in today's world. CATE deals with five major areas: God, Christ, the Holy Spirit, the Church, and membership, with emphasis upon the practical. You will never be the same if you take the course! Some of the sources used are: contemporary—Barth, Bonhoeffer, Niebuhr, classical—The Gospel of John, Martin Luther, Augustine.

Rev. Charles Scheich, United Church of Christ, Lovell, has developed and taught this course. His students have found it very useful in organizing their ideas and making them more effective people. Rev. Scheich will offer CATE to you in the West Parish Congregational Church—although it is ecumenical in the broadest sense. The date is Friday, Oct. 25 at 6:30 p. m., and Saturday, Oct. 26, all day and evening. The registration is three dollars per person. Meals are also three dollars each; this includes lunch and dinner Saturday and snacks during each session, Friday evening will kick off with a pot luck supper. Make checks payable to West Parish Congregational Church. Enrollment is limited, so send your registration soon to Box 436, Bethel.

greenheaded mallards and an attractive soul who was dark, with a white bib and vari-colored bill. They had obviously been shot while sitting on the water or shore. The three children were as bereft as the remaining ducks.

I don't plan to join the ban-the-gun bandwagon. Legislation won't stop things like this from happening any more than it can stop people from killing each other. I do wonder what has happened to sportsmanship. Surely there is no sport in shooting three ducks who are too fat to fly. If the person who shot them was that hungry why did he spend the money on a duck stamp and ammunition?

Where Are All The Parents?

This is the question asked by the teens attending the Youth Center meeting Tuesday evening. I was one of three parents who attended this meeting! The purpose of it was to get the Youth Center rolling again with more interest and cooperation from both parents and teens.

I cannot say that I am all in favor of a Youth Center at any of the churches, but a lot of work has been done by a few people for this project. Many parents were excited and willing to help a year ago, but where have some of them been?

The teens have come up among the missing too? There is a lively group of teens who are planning to pep up this Youth Center now. Why not co-operate with them—Parents and Teens? If another Parent meeting is called, let's all go and back these kids up.

PLANNING BOARD

form as the building inspector shall prescribe, and shall contain a description of the proposed new, altered or relocated building, or the repairs or replacement contemplated. The application shall be filed with the board of assessors and shall be available for inspection by any interested party.

B. Permit Approval. The building inspector, after proper examination of the application, shall either issue the requested permit or transmit notice of refusal within 15 days. Notice of refusal shall be in writing and shall state the reasons therefor.

C. Life of Permit. All building permits shall be void unless work thereunder is commenced within one year from the date of issuance.

D. Display of Permit. Every building permit shall be displayed in a conspicuous place on the premises, clearly visible from the principal traveled street, and shall not be removed until all work covered by the permit has been approved.

E. Fees. There shall be no fees.

F. Certificate of Occupancy. No building shall be occupied after its construction, alteration, repair or relocation until a certificate of occupancy issues from the building inspector. The building inspector shall issue said certificate after proper examination shows that all work was performed in compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

Note: This assures the homeowner that he is getting what he paid for. After construction or repair is complete, the building may not be occupied unless all of the provisions of this ordinance have been fulfilled.

G. Size of Lot. No building shall be constructed upon or removed to a lot with an area of less than 10,000 square feet, with a frontage width facing any street of not less than 100 feet, and a depth of not less than 100 feet, except for lots designated as lot on the town tax map. If an existing building burns, it may be replaced even though the lot may measure less than 10,000 square feet.

A. Set-Back. No building shall be erected on a lot unless it shall be set back from right of way of the street line at least 25 feet.

B. Side Yard Width. No dwelling shall be set less than 20 feet from any adjoining lot line. No buildings other than dwellings shall be set less than 10 feet from the adjoining lot line.

C. Driveways. Each lot shall be provided with a driveway of not less than 10 feet in width.

D. Off-Street Parking. Off-street parking shall be provided in the amount of 300 square feet per dwelling unit. This may be accomplished by driveway space, garage space, or parking lot space, or any combination of the three.

Note: A 10,000 square foot lot provides outdoor living space for the family, produces a comfortable appearance of pleasant spaciousness for the entire neighborhood, decreases the danger of fire jumping from house to house, permits off-street parking, decreases the hazard at driveway entrances to streets where short-cut line of sight can cause injury to children and adults, and allows future street improvements (sidewalks, street trees, and street widening) to be made with the least possible inconvenience to the owner.

Sec. 7. Minimum Floor Area. No dwelling house shall be constructed that will enclose an area of less than 600 square feet of living space on the ground floor. "Living Space" shall mean actual enclosed space suitable for year-round occupancy and shall not include porches, patios and similar areas whether or not enclosed.

Note: The provisions of this section are designed to prohibit the construction and use of shacks.

Sec. 8. Foundations. Except when erected upon solid rock or equivalent, all buildings shall be set on a masonry foundation wall carried one foot below frost, or upon a poured concrete slab at least six inches thick. Masonry walls and concrete slabs shall rest upon solid ground or leveled rock, or on piles or raftering timbers when solid earth or rock is not found. Foundation walls shall be not less than 8 inches thick.

Note: This section makes allowance for three different types of foundation—solid rock, masonry, concrete slabs. There are, no doubt, other types, but any one of the above will insure a minimum of building stability.

In the case of seasonal homes (dwellings designed for occupancy for less than three months), foundations of less stringent standards may be allowed.

Sec. 9. Minimum Construction Standards.

(1) Wooden beams or joists which are not headers or tail joists shall have bearings of at least three inches.

(2) A wooden girder, beam or joist shall not be cut nor placed in any manner that would cause it to be of insufficient strength for its load.

(3) Except for pitched roofs, wooden floor or roof joists of spans which are in excess of eight feet shall be rigidly braced with continuous rows of bridging at intervals not less than eight feet.

(4) The sills shall be anchored to the foundation walls at no more than six-foot intervals by bolts at least one-half inch in diameter embedded at least six inches in the foundation walls.

Note: This is an FHA Requirement.

(5) Wooden columns in basements or cellars shall rest on rigid masonry or metal footings which extend at least six inches above dirt floors or 2 inches above concrete floors.

(6) All wooden beams and joists shall be trimmed away from flues and chimneys so that there shall be not less than two inches from the outside face of the chimney.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres.—

Arriving home late afternoon the Autumn winds sighed through the mountains and breezed from the Northwest down the pond. There toward the far shore an unusual "something" caught my eye. After watching a moment I discovered the Blue Heron. Like a philosopher he stood on his long legs, his neck in a graceful S curve, motionless and seemingly in deep thought. However his mind was alert to the fish and other food that passed by, I'm sure. He seems to be always alone so must lead a rather solitary life. His motion was so slow I could scarcely tell when he did move. But he was interesting to watch and a decorative figure especially in a setting so lovely.

The horizon was tinged with magical glow nearing the rainbow colors as only the western sky knows in perfection.

The Autumn foliage rich now in its dress of splendor completed the picture.

I thought of the other birds no longer in the fields and branches with their music for this is a time of restlessness for them. Weeks ago the first migrants started on their journey southward, the more delicate insect eaters going first. The decrease in food supply sends them southward.

I presume if one were to lie quietly outside on an evening and just listen he would hear the chirps and twitters of these gathered birds coming down through the darkness as they take their southward way. Then if these notes touched the ear he would realize what a wonderful power sound has upon memory. He'd live again the summer with the glory of the Bluebird, the sweetness of the Bobolink, the dipping and chirp of the swallow, the call of the oriole and his majesty the Robin. If the darkness could immediately turn to light, what would be revealed? We can only guess — we know not Migration — one of the great mysteries of the world of nature. I see my way as birds their trackless way, I shall arrive! what time, what circuit first, I ask not; but unless God send his hail Of blinding fireballs, sleet, or stifling snow, In some time, his good time, I shall arrive; He guides me and the bird. In his good time!

(Robert Browning)

WEST PARIS REC. BOARD ANNOUNCES SPECIAL TROPHY TO BETHEL

The West Paris Recreation Board announced this week that the special participation trophy will be presented to the town of Bethel this year. This trophy is awarded each year to the town, outside of West Paris, which has the best representation at the annual soap box derby. The trophy will be displayed at some business establishment in Bethel village for 1968-69 until a few weeks before the 5th annual derby. At that time it will be brought back to West Paris and will be presented to the town who has the best representation at next years derby.

The town of West Paris has been excluded because it would only be natural that they would have the best representation. This award is to create more interest in the outside towns.

It will be up to the town of Bethel to defend its holding the trophy next year.

At the base of the trophy the following will read:

Awarded to the Town of Bethel for the best representation at the 1968 annual West Paris soap box derby. Those who represented Bethel are: Dwight Bailey, age 12; Osman Palmer, age 13; Kenneth Mason, age 11. In the powderpuff, Fern Bachelder, age 11; and Jeanne Bachelder, age 12.

This is the first year the trophy has been awarded but it will be a regular feature of the derby race in the future.
